

WORKING TO GET A JOB

Looking for a new job is not only a full-time job but also is a requirement in order to be eligible for unemployment benefits, unless the Division of Employment Security (DES) tells you otherwise. To jump start your job hunt, consider these helpful tips:

Look for work using different methods, including

Another requirement for remaining eligible to receive unemployment benefits is to visit your local Missouri Career Center every four weeks, unless told otherwise by the DES. Working with a Career Center representative is an excellent way to get connected with job-enhancing programs, including:

Receiving assistance with job referrals, resume building, and reemployment services.

Learning about different kinds of jobs, their availability, and how to get training for a new career path.

If you are offered work and refuse the offer, you must report this refusal while filing your weekly certification (claim). If you refuse work that the DES deems as suitable, you may be ineligible to receive unemployment benefits.

Contact your local Missouri Career Center today for more information and assistance with planning an effective work search, or go to www.MissouriCareerSource.com.
